- Hi, my name is Nguyen Thanh Hung (s3926041), since I was only a child, I've always wanted to be a professional athlete. However, an incident occurred, causing my leg to be hurt, and I am unable to move quickly with my injured leg. I felt the world had ended until one of my high school teachers introduced me to a programming course. Since then, I've spent the majority of my time researching and cultivating expertise in several IT knowledge, and I've discovered that this industry may be a good fit for me. As a result, when it came time to choose a university major, I decided that IT would be the ideal field for me to study because of the skills I already acquired.

With the test result that I had conducted, I am a person who afraid of criticism, my team had tried my best to avoid putting pressure on me by guiding me and support me during the progress. It's lucky for me that my team is discipline and solid, which make the progress going smoothly, and it's even more efficient with the instruction given by Son and Minh Duc

By the time I wrote this, I was fascinated by creating mobile applications which pursue me to select mobile developer as my ideal job. Fortunately, Cao Son in our group share a similar opinions and interests in mobile development as well as web development in order to improve people's life quality. Therefore, we can share our experience while studying as well as working to support each other. Meanwhile, The Duc and Minh Duc was more concern about UI/UX design and want to be a Front-end Developer.
